Rental Tracker: handover guide

Portfolio demo by Rodrigo Matoso. All names, addresses and amounts are fictitious.

What it does

Records every rent payment, flags anything late or partial, applies late fees automatically, calculates each shareholder's return, and prints a one-page report per property.

Daily use (2 minutes)

1. Payments tab: add a row per payment received. Type only the blue columns: date, tenancy ID (drop-down), rent period (1st of the month it pays), amounts, method.
2. Expenses tab: add any cost paid for a property.
3. Dashboard: arrears, collection rate and the next distribution update instantly.

Monthly / quarterly

4. Property Report: pick a property in the yellow cell and print or export to PDF.
5. When you pay shareholders, record it in Distributions. 'Next distribution' drops to zero for what was paid.

How arrears are calculated

Rent Schedule creates one line per tenancy per month. Balance = rent due + late fee - rent paid - fee paid. A late fee applies when payment arrives after the due date plus the grace days set in Tenancies.

Status colours: green Paid, yellow Paid late, amber Partial / Fee due, red Overdue.

How shareholder returns work

Net income per property = collected - expenses - management fee (Settings). Each shareholder earns their ownership % of each property's net income, so returns vary by property performance.

Adding a new tenancy or month

Add the tenancy in Tenancies, then add its monthly lines in Rent Schedule (copy an existing block and change the Tenancy ID and Period). In the Google Sheets version this is generated automatically with ARRAYFORMULA.

Colour code

Blue text = typed input. Green text = pulled from another tab. Black = formula. Yellow fill = setting you may change.

Optional alerts

The companion Apps Script (rental_tracker_alerts.gs) emails a list of overdue items every morning when the file is used in Google Sheets.

Rental Portfolio Dashboard

Demo portfolio with fictitious data. Built in Excel / Google Sheets with formulas only.
